workplace

Fire Science

The Fire Science program provides students with the principles, theory and practices associated with cutting-edge fire science and management.

Students study:

- Tactical fire operations
- Fire safety
- Firefighting leadership
- Community issues

Health

The Health program provides students with an extensive view of careers in the health profession, both at the entry level and advanced level.

Students explore the medical field by taking a variety of Public Service Academy approved science courses. They are also introduced to careers related to the health care industry.

Criminal Justice

The Criminal Justice program provides students with an examination of the operation of the systems that control crime - the police, courts and corrections.

Students receive an introduction to:

- Crime control philosophy
- Crime trends
- Juvenile justice
- The future of the criminal justice system in America
